CITRUS FRUIT AND VEGETABLES FINAL ESTIMATES 2008-2012

USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service has published final estimates for Citrus Fruit and Vegetables, including revisions made by the Agricultural Statistics Board (ASB), for the production years 2008 through 2012. Citrus bearing acreage, yield, utilized production, price, and value data were published during calendar years 2008-2012 in periodic ASB reports. Vegetable acreage, yield, production, price, and value data were published during calendar years 2008-2012 in periodic ASB reports. Data included in these final publications provide a historic record and a benchmark for current estimates.

Revisions were made after a thorough review of the original survey data and all additional data now available, including the 2012 Census of Agriculture. Other data considered included marketing agreement records, recorded truck and rail movement, quantities inspected, and quantities used by processors. The current acreages were evaluated with historic totals to ensure comparability with past Census relationships. The 2008-2012 estimates shown herein are considered final and will not be revised again.
